July 2015: Summer program reminder!

Exhibition at Newark Library

Bring your projects to the July meeting for exhibition at the Newark Library during July. There is still time!

Wayne Scholtz has made arrangements at the library and will collect all items we like to display.

A great opportunity to acquaint the general public with woodworking and show your prized items. Size is limited to display case.

Collaborative project: spice chest, too spicy??

Peter Leavens will come up with a new plan. The interest in the spice chest and the complexity may be more than we care for. Peter will propose a small side table with drawers and a shelf.

Worthy to be in anyone's home.

Festival of Lights

Summer time, but not too early to start thinking: Ornaments.

The Guild every year decorates a Christmas tree for the Festival of Lights, a Cokesbury Village event at Thanksgiving. Proceeds benefit Hospice of Delaware

Now is the time to brainstorm and plan those ornaments.

This table involves turning, shaping, perhaps using a bandsaw, and joinery of various kinds. Drawer construction is always great practice.

Let's see how we can manage this. A collaborative project is a great way to connect with fellow craftsmen and exchange ideas. Jim Kirkbride offered his shop.

We will need curly maple or cherry for this project, pls. check your inventory.

Dave Webber tools.

Ron Hasse briefed us on progress in helping Dave Webber's brother sell tools. An email has been sent to members outlining the plan. Ron will help in getting the remainder of the tools to an auction house in Ephrata, PA. Thanks Ron.

Show and Tell

George Hoffman is now into miniature carousels!

Jim Kirkbride has some delicate chinese carvings.
